

QUALITY POLICY

The management at Kirchhoff Ireland has set out their goals, responsibilities and methods for quality within the management strategy, and has documented them in the Quality Manual.

Kirchhoff Ireland is committed to satisfying the requirements of its customers at all times for its products & services.

An active and effective Quality Management System to the requirements of QS 9000, ISO 9002 & VDA-6 is maintained to support this commitment.

Kirchhoff Ireland recognises that the quality function is essential to ensure that all products comply with the customer's requirements. The system and procedures in operation are regularly reviewed and amended in the light of experience gained to meet changing requirements in the drive towards continued improvement in the quality & service provided, and the efficiency with which these are produced and supplied.

In order to realise this policy; every employee is responsible for the quality of his or her work. Every Employee whatever their position in the company, is made fully aware of this policy and is actively encouraged to become involved in the quest for improved quality and efficiency in both product and operations.

The management of Kirchhoff Ireland fully supports the quality assurance system defined in the quality manual.
